AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Sir John McDonald's Illness Takes a [illegible] Turn

SUDDEN STROKE OF PARALYSIS

All Hope Is Abandoned and Sorrowing [illegible] Await the End [illegible] Canadian Ministry Will Be Dissolved

THE MINISTRY WILL BE DISSOLVED [illegible]

OTTAWA, May 30 [illegible] [illegible] has been able to state that he [illegible] just spoken a few words, but all hope of his recovery has been abandoned

QUIET BUT NO CHANGE

OTTAWA, May 30, 2 a. m.—There is no change in the premier's condition. Dr [illegible] well says his patient is resting quietly

A PARALYTIC STROKE

OTTAWA, May 29.—Sir John MacDonald has suffered a stroke of paralysis. He is conscious, but is unable to speak or move. His condition has created a great sensation in political circles. As soon as it became known the house adjourned. Nearly all the ministers are now at Earnscliffe awaiting the end.

THE MINISTRY WILL BE DISSOLVED

OTTAWA, May 29.—When a premier dies the ministry, according to England's parliamentary practice, is dissolved. Sir John Thompson in all probability will be called upon by the ministry in the event of Sir John's death.

The Court of Appeals Sustained.

DENVER, May 29.—The supreme court met at 10 o'clock this morning and Chief Justice Helm handed down a decision in the celebrated case of The People of the State of Colorado ex rel. vs George Q. Richmond, et al. touching the constitutionality of the court of appeals. The case was brought against the defendants to show cause why they were sitting as judges.

Their reply in substance was that they were sitting under authority of an act of the legislature known as senate bill No. 55, creating a court of appeals and by appointment by the governor. The attorney general demurred to that answer.

In the opinion rendered Chief Justice Helm overruled that demurrer and sustained the validity of the act and the constitutionality of the court. This settles all questions concerning the court of appeals.

Buried Alive but Saved.

DENVER, May 29.—About 5 o'clock this afternoon while men were excavating a sewer trench on Glenarm street, the side walls fell in, burying four men under eleven feet of dirt and timbers.

At first it was thought impossible to recover them before they died of suffocation. A hundred shovelers were immediately set to work and labored like Trojans for half an hour when the first victim was reached. He was almost dead but under rigorous treatment soon revived.

The others were found a few minutes later, lying under the timbers in such a manner as to prevent their being crushed to death. They were almost black in the face for want of air and had they been compelled to remain entombed a few minutes longer would have died. They were somewhat bruised but will be around again in a few days.

Attempted Grave Robbery.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 29.—A daring attempt to steal the body of P. T. Barnum, the veteran showman, was made about 3 o'clock this morning by ghouls.

Geo. Callahan and John Blackman, the watchmen, fell asleep about 2 o'clock, having remained awake during the previous day. Callahan is a light sleeper and was aroused by the sound of a pick. He quickly aroused his companion and both proceeded in the direction of the grave, whence the sound came. They crept to within a few feet without being heard. Callahan then said, "Who's there?" No reply came, but the work stopped and one of them exclaimed "Run, for your life, we are caught."

They dashed off and both watchmen fired their pistols at them. They continued shooting until their revolvers were emptied. A [illegible] came from one of the men after he had gone a short distance and the guards supposed he had been shot. They followed but could find no one.

An investigation was made at the grave. On the north side was found an excavation in the ground several feet deep. In order to reach the body it would have been necessary to work through a wall eight inches in thick[ness] which surrounds the grave. The crypt is covered with two stone slabs weighing two [tons].

The men found a dark lantern in the excavation which the ghouls had used and dropped in their flight.

The news of the attempted robbery became [known] in the city and caused widespread indignation. The two watchmen have been guarding the grave since Barnum was [buried]. The ghouls probably thought that the watchmen had been taken off and supposed they would not be interrupted in their work.

The robbers are thought to have come [from] out of town. Late last night a team was hired in McCord by four men. The team was not returned, and was found wandering in the street this morning. The object of the ghouls seems to have been to get the body and hold it for a reward.

The Itata Gone to Australia.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 29.—A special to The Anglo-American at 7 o'clock last night from Acapulco says: There is a well founded report here that the officers of the Esmeralda which coaled here yesterday have said that the fugitive Chilian vessel the Itata has gone direct to Melbourne, Australia, after having transferred her arms and ammunition bought in the United States to the Esmeralda. The officers of the cruiser have made no secret that they had communication with the Itata on the 15th instant.

The French Fund Again.

DUBLIN, May 29.—The National Press to-day says: Owing to the report of Mr. Parnell that in the event of the death of McCarthy (whom he declares to be dying) he, Parnell, will have complete control of the Paris fund to divide among his followers, the McCarthyites have taken French legal advice of the subject and find that unless the consent of the late Mr. Joe. Biggar's son is obtained, Mr. Parnell can only control a third portion of the fund, after a long litigation which the McCarthyites will take into every court in France. The [illegible] Dr. Joseph E. Kenny, M. P., is reported to gain Mr. Biggar's son's consent, but he [illegible]

Sunday Ball Playing Sustained

CINCINNATI, May 29.—The celebrated case of Manager Frank C. Bancroft, of the Local American Association base ball club, charged with exhibiting a game of base ball on Sunday, was called [illegible] in the police court at 11 o'clock this morning. The accused was accompanied by King, Kelly, and President Ed. Renau and was represented by Attorney J. C. Hart.

A jury had been demanded by the defense and the day was consumed in getting the requisite number to serve. After the case had been argued by counsel, a verdict of not guilty was returned late this evening.

Brooklyn Jockey Club.

GRAVESEND, May 29.—This was the last day but one of the meeting here, and the attendance did not number all told over 2000 persons. This latter fact was accounted for by the heavy fall of rain that commenced early in the morning and lasted until after 10 o'clock. The track was of course a sea of mud and water but it was not at all holding, as proved by the good time by which most of the races were won in.

The Morris stable horses were again prominent factors in their respective races and won two races, including the Fort Hamilton handicap and finished third with Peruvian in the first race. Ripotica, their filly by Woodlands out of Maggie B., that won the second race was entered to be sold for $2000, and was bought by Chris Smith, a western plunger, for $4000.

Raceland made his first appearance for the year in the fifth race and the best he could do was to finish second to Chesapeake. He is very much on the big side just at present, and needs a race or two to get in condition.

First race. Sweepstakes, five furlongs. The Rhoda colt won by a short head; Ninone 2nd, Peruvian 3rd. time, 1.01.

Second race. Handicap sweepstakes, one mile and a furlong. Million won, Isaac Dennis 2nd. time, 1.58¼.

Third race. A selling sweepstakes for 3-year-olds, one mile. Ripotica won, Flavian 2nd, Calcium 3rd, time, 1.44½.

Fourth race. Fort Hamilton handicap for 3-year-olds, for $60 with $1500 added, one mile and a furlong. Tellifer won, Pickmicker 2d, Pessaro 3, time 1.55¾.

Fifth race. Heavy weight handicap with $1000 added, one mile. Chesapeake won, Raceland 2d, Jack Rose 3d, time 1.44¾.

Sixth race. A selling sweepstakes, with $1000 added, for 3-year-olds, one mile. Balkwin won, Tammany 2d, Kittie T. 3d. time 1.46¾.

Overland Park Races.

DENVER, May 29.—To-day was another successful one at Overland park, fully 4000 people being admitted to the grand stand and quarter stretch. The features of the day were the Owners' handicap and Hotel stakes for 2-year-olds.

First race was the unfinished trot of yesterday, which was won by Prospect, Butte 2d, Gene 3d, time 2.32¼.

Second race. Selling race, seven furlongs. Starters: Cactus Blossom, Sympathetics Last, Forester, Blue Rock, Aldine, [illegible] John Winfield, Beecher. Sympathetics Last led from the start winning easily, Blue Rock 2d. time 1.33¼.

Third race. The Hotel stakes for $300. Starters: Bob Lytle, Patti Rosa, Jessie Carr, Bagman, Topgallant, Honsbell, Mary Hall. The horses had a bad start, Patti Rosa and Topgallant took the lead head and head with Jessie Carr close up. There was no change in their positions until entering the home-stretch when Topgallant pushed ahead winning by three-quarters of a length. Patti Rosa 2d, Jessie Carr 3d. time 51 seconds.

Fourth race. Owners' handicap, five furlongs, for $300. Starters: Midnight, Wilder[n]ham Baker, Excuse Me, Eclipse Jr., Lon Carlisle, Roan Dick and Bob Wade. Bob Wade won, Eclipse Jr. 2nd, time, 1.03¼.

An American Schooner Seized.

MONTREAL, May 29.—A dispatch from Gaspe says: The Canadian fishery cruiser La Canadienne, cruising in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, has seized the American fishing schooner F. D. Hodgkins for violating the fishery regulations and provisions of the "modus vivendi" with the United States.

There was no resistance, and the [vessel was] brought to Gaspe on the French shore, where she is now awaiting instructions from Ottawa. The Hodgkins had 400 barrels of herring [illegible]

BRIGGS IS VETOED.

The Presbyterian General Assembly Disapproves

AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY

[illegible] Make a Lively [illegible] Sent [illegible]

[illegible]

Dr Logan's [illegible] [illegible] the adoption of Dr Briggs' [illegible] to the best of the seminary would [illegible]

Elder James R. [illegible] of New York [illegible] [illegible] in the New York Presbytery be [illegible] Dr Logan [illegible]

Dr Worcester [illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] of Dr. T[illegible]. After a [illegible] the difficulty and propriety of the assembly of the directors of Union Theological seminary in view of the utterances of Dr Briggs' inaugural delivered after his appointment to the chair he moved that a [committee] of [illegible] and seven elders be appointed to confer with the directors of the seminary; that the directors be especially requested to consider their action in transferring Dr Briggs; that they be requested that Dr Briggs should not be allowed to perform the duties belonging to said chair for the ensuing year.

Dr Charles H. Parkhurst of New York, one of the directors of the Union seminary, said he supposed all would be happy when this controversy was out of the air. He longed for the time when with these thoughts out of all hearts and these tones out of all ears the church could go back to the saving of the lost. As a director of Union seminary he felt he was in a sense on trial. He felt the solemnity of the occasion. If there was anything he could do to solve the question he would be willing to do it. He knew and loved his friend Dr Briggs, but he was a difficult man to get along with. But no man was going to be allowed by the board of directors to come between the assembly and Union Theological seminary and the best interests of the church. The directors had uncertainty in their minds as to the technical legality of the election of Dr. Briggs, and it would meet the assembly in any settlement of the question. He was thoroughly in accord with the sentiment of Dr Worcester's substitute. Dr Patton said: [illegible] charmed him with its brilliancy, but more than brilliancy was needed. If a committee was sent by the assembly it would be received sincerely and with the heartiest desire of the directors to act in the fullest manner up to the spirit of Dr Worcester's substitute.

Rev Jos. T. Smith, of Baltimore, said that Dr Briggs failed in the capacity of making himself understood as plainly as should a teacher on the fundamental principles of the Bible.

Hon Charles Lyman of Washington D. C., said that the assembly ought to consider what would follow the acting on a technicality solely. He pleaded for equity and justice.

Rev George D. Baker of Philadelphia said Dr Briggs was not yet a complete professor of Union and would not be unless this assembly failed to disapprove of his appointment.

The scenes in the assembly as the consideration of the Briggs case came to a close were very exciting. After the adoption of the resolution in favor of taking a vote on the matter at 5 o'clock, both sides began getting in their best licks. Briggs' friends were persistent in their attempt to postpone consideration.

During the last few minutes the contention for the floor was terrific. Civil service commissioner Lyman, Rev Dr Barker of Philadelphia and Rev Dr Bartlett of Washington, were among those who were fortunate in securing the moderator's eye and though Judge Shipman of New Jersey had been waiting an hour under Moderator Green's nose for a chance to say a last good word for Briggs, the moderator did not notice him.

[illegible] with Dr. [illegible] the veto of Dr Briggs' appointment, when a Briggs man jumped up with a motion to adjourn. The assembly howled him down. Dr Worcester's substitute for the report of President Patton's committee was first [presented]. There were not 100 in favor of it.

Next came Dr Logan's amendment that disapproval be extended only for the present, which was voted down with as big an adverse majority as Dr Worcester's substitute.

Then came the report of Patton's committee. Amid wild excitement mingled with hilarity a vote was taken. From disorder the whole scene changed to most solemn stillness, when the name of the first presbytery on the list was called by the stated clerk. The ayes had it from the start. Only a solitary "no" lent aid and comfort to the Briggsites for half an hour. The southwestern [illegible] and the far west were solidly [illegible]. The [illegible] voted for the report, as did the stated clerk. Mr Patton was not present. The foreign delegates voted aye as strongly as they knew how. When the vote was counted, it stood 440 to 60.

Briggs' appointment had been vetoed and Princeton had won the greatest theological battle since the trial of Professor Swing.

Railway Collision.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—At Wilmore eight miles from here on the Pittsburg and Western two passenger trains collided at 2 o'clock this afternoon. James H. Sarver, an engineer of Allegheny, learning the road was caught between the engine and tender and had both legs scalded by steam. The crew and passengers poured so much whisky into the unfortunate man to relieve his pain until removed from his position, that it stupefied him. He has not yet regained consciousness and it is feared he will die. A. G. Campbell of Butler county, Pa., a passenger had his arm broken. The engines were wrecked, causing a loss of $20,000.

A Narrow Escape.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 29.—One of the worst collisions which has ever occurred at the Union crossing of the New Jersey Central and the Pennsylvania railroads took place this afternoon at about 5 o'clock. The accident though occurring at a most dangerous point resulted in no loss of life. The only person seriously injured was an engineer who was badly scalded. The passengers escaped with only a severe shaking up. The collision was between the Philadelphia fast line train on the Central and a freight on the Pennsylvania railroad. Engineer Copson of the passenger train saw the freight train in time and applied his air brakes, but they failed to work. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, the fireman jumped and escaped unhurt, but the engineer, Wm Copson, remained at his post endeavoring to stop the progress of his train until struck with full force by the [illegible] of the moving freight train.

The force of the collision threw the engine [illegible]

Particulars of the Czarowitz Escape

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—By the steamer Oceanic which arrived this evening particulars are learned of the attack upon the Russian Prince Imperial at Otsu, Japan. The prince and party were on their way to Priva at the time. All were being carried in jinrikishas some yards peculiar to the Japanese. Immediately behind the jinrikisha of the prince imperial and Prince George of Greece armed guards were riding. A strong force of police had been placed at intervals along the [illegible] [illegible]. Among the policemen was one Tsuda Sanzo. This man seems to have lost his reason as the party approached. Drawing his sword he stepped up when the prince's jinrikisha passed and struck at its royal occupant. The sword encountered the prince's hat and by that means the blow was deadened so that the edge of the weapon did not reach the bone. Prince George struck the assailant with his stick, and one of the gendarmes following the prince at once sprang from his jinrikisha and gave the lunatic two severe but not fatal [wounds] [illegible] arrested.

The prince's wound was about three inches long, but not of a serious character. After having his head tied up by one of the escorts, he returned to the governor's house and received medical treatment.

The whole Japanese nation was thoroughly shocked by the event and ministers of state and even the emperor [illegible] to visit the royal wounded visitor. As to the man by whom the attempt on his life was made, the only conclusion to be formed is that he labored under an attack of temporary insanity. He has expressed penitence and stated that he lost control of himself.

What Anna Dickinson Will Do.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Miss Anna Dickinson arrived from Goshen last evening and gave out to the representatives of the press that she would shortly institute proceedings for recovery of damages from the institute where she was confined for insanity. Colonel Hart, her counsel, said that damages would be placed at $100,000 at least, and intimated that criminal proceedings against them would also be brought. Miss Dickinson will sue as a citizen of New York and the case will probably be brought in a Philadelphia court.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Commercial Summary

A RATHER MIXED SITUATION

Some Chances of Future Trouble [illegible] [illegible] Outlook Crop [illegible] Are Very [illegible]

[illegible]

The present feeling is a shade [illegible] hopeful if [illegible] not enough weight to the possibilities of [illegible] disturbance or loss that remain. Yet it [illegible] most encouraging and most significant [illegible] strength and soundness that [illegible] April and May has caused [illegible] apprehension. The most powerful sustaining influence is the continuance of exceedingly favorable crop prospects. In general the prices of commodities have declined [illegible] far from [illegible] per cent for the week [illegible] will further decline as new crops draw [near] if no disaster occurs.

COAL AND IRON

The [end] of the great coke strikes does not yet bring lower prices for it is announced that [illegible] will still be charged. But the iron furnaces of Shenango and Mahoning [valleys] [illegible] according to telegrams. If so the price of pig iron at least of the lower grades largely produced in that region is likely to decline. The tone of the market is better but without change of prices here or at Philadelphia, while Bessemer pig is 50 to 75 cents lower at Pittsburg but there is a better demand in eastern markets for bar and structural iron and plates.

WOOLENS AND COTTONS

No change is seen in the woolen manufacture, though fine domestic fleece is a little weak [illegible]. The cotton manufacture progresses without change, and eastern failures have caused especial dullness in the boot and shoe and leather trades, even for the dull season. Boston reports only fair business, with sales very small in some branches. Dealers and manufacturers in shoes and leather are cautious, and hides are weak. Wool is quiet, woolen goods fairly active, and [illegible] At Philadelphia there is general hesitation because of the state of city finances. Wool, groceries and tobacco are dull. At Pittsburg window glass is depressed by building strikes, but at Cleveland trade is fairly good and at Cincinnati brightening a little.

WESTERN TRADE

At Chicago receipts of flour and grain, lard and butter fall below last year's, but wool receipts are more than double and an increase appears in dressed beef and cheese and in sales of dry goods, clothing and shoes. At St. Louis trade is of fair volume with collections satisfactory. At Kansas City trade is fair with crop prospects never better. At St. Paul there is improvement, and at Minneapolis lumber is active but flour very dull. At Louisville the outlook is brighter, with manufacturers fully employed, and at Nashville trade brightens but depression continues at Memphis. Sugar is in better demand at New Orleans and cotton steady at a decline, molasses steady.

The only interior markets at which stringency is reported are Savannah and Memphis, though money is firm at New Orleans and in strong demand at Minneapolis, and a little close at Cleveland and Detroit. But in general the supply at nearly all points is nearly adequate for all legitimate business.

The clearing house exchanges show a smaller exchange of [illegible] for May than a year ago, but the railroad traffic [illegible] are more favorable and the earnings show gains. The railroads make small progress in adjusting their differences or preventing reduction of [rates].

The business failures during the last seven days number for the United States 219 and Canada 28, or a total of 247, as compared with a total of 254 last week, and 255 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 218, representing 204 failures in the United States and 14 in the dominion of Canada.

The President Gives a Party

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Nearly all the persons who accompanied the president on his recent tour through the South and West were entertained at dinner at the executive mansion to-night by the President and Mrs. Harrison. The dinner was given in honor of Mr and Mrs. George W. Boyd of Philadelphia. Mr Boyd who is the assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, had charge of the presidential party during the entire tour and the dinner was intended to show the president's appreciation of Mr Boyd's wonderfully successful management of the journey.

Among those present were: Postmaster general Wanamaker, Secretary and Mrs. Rusk and Miss Rusk, Mr and Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Dimmick, Major and Mrs. J. P. Sanger, Mr and Mrs. Ransdell and Messrs. Clarke, Austin and Oulahan the representatives of the press associations with the party.

A Liberal Victory.

LONDON, May 29.—The election of a member of parliament to represent North Buckinghamshire in place of Captain Edmund H. Verney, who was recently expelled from the house of commons, took place yesterday and resulted in a victory for the Gladstonian candidate. The result was as follows: Mr H. S. Leon (Gladstonian Liberal), [illegible]; Hon. Evelyn Hubbard (Conservative), [illegible]. The Gladstonian thus won by a majority of 381. At the last election held in North Buckinghamshire, Captain Verney (Liberal Home Ruler), defeated the same candidate who was defeated yesterday, the Hon. Evelyn Hubbard, by 4855 to [illegible] votes, a majority of 208 votes. On this basis the Gladstonians have made a gain of 173.

A New Rock Island Outlet.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A Waco dispatch says: It is stated here that the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company has acquired control of the Texas Central by lease or purchase. The ownership of the Texas Central by the Rock Island and the completion of the gap between the southern terminus of that route and Albany will connect the Rock Island with the gulf coast and Mexico through the San Antonio and Aransas pass.

Treasurer Arraigned.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29. John Bardsley, city treasurer of Philadelphia, was arraigned at noon to-day in the Central police court to answer to triple charges of misappropriating $[illegible] of city money and the embezzlement of $[illegible] and upwards of state funds, and perjury in violating the oath of office by loaning the city money out at interest. Since his arrest a week ago Mr Bardsley has been confined to his bed, suffering from prostration [illegible] to the terrible mental strain, that he [illegible] under for the past few months.

It is doubtful if they could arrive in time to be sent to Behring sea on this duty.

No definite arrangements have been made however as it is not certain what steps the British government will take.

An Important Witness.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—Leon C. F. Burthe, the principal witness against the jury bribers in the case growing out of the Mafia trials in New Orleans, was arrested in East St. Louis this afternoon and is now in jail in this city. Burthe, it will be remembered, left New Orleans to avoid testifying in the bribery trials. He arrived here Wednesday and registered at the Mosier hotel, where he was located by Detective Archambault, who followed him to East St. Louis. When taken to the station the following telegram dated New Orleans [illegible] to Wm. Mason, Burthe's cousin, was found:

"Tell my son to leave the state of Missouri immediately and go to another state. Advance him $30 and draw on me for same. [Signed] LOUIS BURTHE."

When seen by a reporter Mr. Burthe said: "When the Hennessy murder case was held I was drawn on the panel. Before I was examined and rejected, P. Armandt approached me and said that I would get $1000 if I got on the jury and found the Italians not guilty. I told him I would do nothing of the kind. After the trial I told Mr. Parkinson and afterward told him that Edgar White, the deputy sheriff, had threatened to kill me if I testified against his friend Armandt. Yes, I was afraid and left New Orleans and got $1000." But he seemed to realize that he was telling too much and in the next breath said that he left New Orleans of his own free will. "If I testify against those two men it will be because I am compelled to. There was no reason for my leaving New Orleans except to save those two men."

It is not known whether or not he will go back without requisition papers. The only charge on which he can be taken back are contempt of court or compounding a felony.

An Apache Outbreak.

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—Information has been received at army headquarters from military sources at Fort Bayard, N. M. to the effect that rumors of Indian hostilities are again rife in that quarter. It is reported that a man named Whitten was killed on Blue river, in Arizona, and also that a family was killed in Eagle creek. A man named Campbell was killed on the Mogollon mountains. Two officers and twenty men have been sent by the commanding officer at Fort Bayard to scout northward. A man named Holt, who helped bring in some of the dead, states that the trail of the Indians leads directly toward the reservation. General McCook has given orders for troops from Forts Bayard, Apache, Bowie and San Carlos to make diligent search in the vicinity of the several cords for any signs of outlaws. Troops from these posts, with thirty days' supplies, left on Wednesday to make search.

An Adventure with Indians.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A dispatch from Atoka, I. T., says J. S. Newcomb, a picture canvasser who has just arrived there relates a thrilling adventure with the Indians at Boggy depot, fifteen miles south of Atoka. Newcomb and his partner R. H. Stapleton camped near an Indian camp, and in some manner offended the Indians, whereupon they were ordered to leave, which they did. They had traveled but a short distance when they found themselves ambushed. Newcomb jumped from his buggy and mounting a horse made his escape though bullets from the Indians' rifles whistled in close proximity to his head. Newcomb reported that he believed Stapleton had been killed but little credence was placed in his story. Later, however the fact of Stapleton's death was confirmed, the coroner from that vicinity reporting that his body had been found riddled with bullets.

Wisconsin Still in the Union.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Mr. Louis Schade, editor of the Washington Sentinel, to-day called Secretary Foster's attention to a published interview with General Grosvenor of the commission appointed to investigate and report upon foreign immigration to this country, in which he referred to Wisconsin as practically a foreign state. The secretary said that he had not seen the article, and after reading it authorized Mr. Schade to state publicly that he could not believe that General Grosvenor has made use of these remarks attributed to him; but if he had he (the secretary) entirely disapproved of them.

A Rich Seizure.

NEW YORK, May 29. Customs officials made a seizure to-day of the richest assortment of goods and jewelry that has perhaps ever been seized at this port. The property was found in the trunk of W. T. Smith, a passenger on the S. S. [illegible]. Everything in the trunk was of the finest quality and of a class never before seized by the customs officers, consisting of articles such as cups, saucers, spoons, etc., made of solid gold. It will, therefore, take some time to ascertain their value.

A Verdict in the Sheedy Case.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 29.—The jury in the Sheedy murder case, after being out since [yesterday] evening, returned a verdict at 3.40 this afternoon of not guilty in favor of both the defendants, Mrs. Sheedy and McFarland. The announcement of the verdict was received with [illegible] mingled with hisses.

FOR SALE.

1 The magnificent business property southwest corner Pike's Peak and Nevada avenues in the exact heart of the city being at the point where the original [illegible] This property has a frontage of over 150 feet on Nevada avenue and 100 feet on Pike's Peak avenue and has 44 feet on the alley [illegible] Inside of two years this corner will be as good as the corner of Pike's Peak and Tejon streets for business purposes, if not better [illegible] and being more centrally located [illegible] and I will sell it for one third the price that will buy the other. Meanwhile the improvements on it pay the taxes and leave a handsome surplus.

2 The equally splendid residence property on North Tejon street, fronting 400 feet on the Rapid Transit line running from Willamette avenue to Monument street with a depth of 190 feet to a 20 feet alley in a most desirable neighborhood. [illegible] the frontage on Tejon street and the 190 ft frontage on Willamette avenue is bordered with ten year old maple and locust trees. I will sell this great property if taken at once, for $35,000. There must be some mistake in regard to the loss of the United States man-of-war Vermont in the China seas. According to the Navy Register of 1891 the Vermont is dismantled and used as a receiving ship at New York. The Omaha, the Asiatic flag ship, is now in San Francisco, and the only ships left on the station are the Monocacy, the Alliance and the Pinta.

Numerous complaints have been made about the condition of the county and city jails, but they were general in their character. Yesterday's investigation led to charges of a more specific character against the city prison. The filthiness and leakage are matters of fact which prove the jail unfit for occupancy. There is no question as to what should be done in the matter. It must be fixed or the place must not be used. Not only the lives of the prisoners are in jeopardy, but the city officials and the [illegible] in the hall above are exposed.

THE SUNDAY GAZETTE.

The SUNDAY GAZETTE will contain the usual number of high class articles by eminent authors of this and foreign countries.

Robert Louis Stevenson has at last reached Hawaii, the most important in many ways of the Pacific islands. In this week's letter he follows the footsteps of Captain Cook who was eaten by cannibals [illegible] and describes the ways and appearance of the islanders who now live in the village of [illegible].

Viscount General Wolseley describes Sherman's campaign against Johnston, up to the time when the latter was relieved by Hood. He treats with [illegible] both Union and Confederate leaders [illegible] that are interesting both to military and civilian readers.

[illegible] Alexander, the well-known novelist, contributes a sprightly essay on "Girls in Modern Fiction." She contrasts them with the impossible creatures of the books of half a century ago and [illegible] them in various styles, all of whom are charming and some more so than others.

One of the most valuable articles in this number is "Researches in Botany," by Prof. H. Marshall Ward, F. R. S. The building up of compounds suitable for the support of animal life is a subject of [illegible] interest. Hitherto the [illegible] has been entirely unknown as regards the nitrates. Late discoveries throw a light upon the subject, and it is of these late investigations that Professor Ward writes.

R. Requi[illegible], editor of La Epoque, the organ of the Italian colony in Paris, contributes an article on the Republicans of Italy.

There are two short stories. The Demon Hand is not a romance of the nickel boys-library brand, nor has it anything to do with five aces; it is a story of Italian brigandage, a German [illegible], and enough mystery to make it interesting. The other story is by Kirke Munroe and is entitled, "Among the Bushwhackers."

For the Deeds of Daring series Geo. L. Kilmer contributes a true story of warfare among the snowy Alps.

Bill Nye is still "on the road," travelling through Southwest Missouri, U. S. He is evidently a wary traveller, and tells some of the traps he has avoided and others [illegible]. The article closes with some [illegible] which are certainly among the best things Bill ever wrote.

The usual departments will appear with the full Associated Press and United Press reports.

The SUNDAY GAZETTE contains more high class literary matter than any other Sunday paper in the Rocky mountain region.

The SUNDAY GAZETTE contains as much reading matter set in this city as the six combined daily editions of any other paper in Colorado Springs.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD.

Sir John Macdonald, the Canadian premier, is a great man. Not great in a [illegible] sense, the foremost man of a small nation, but one of the prominent figures of the English speaking nations. The Review of Reviews for May contains a sketch from which we make some extracts:

There are not a few of his admirers who go so far as to say that he has not a compeer in the mother of parliaments of today, and shake their heads wisely when any difficulty arises, either in home or foreign, and especially in colonial affairs, and say, not always to themselves, "they want a man like John A. there." Although born in Scotland, Sir John was caught young, like many other Scotchmen who have made their mark in the colonies, having accompanied his parents to Canada seventy years ago when six years of age. His training and general up-bringing has, therefore, been entirely colonial. Without having had the advantage of a university career, his education is said to have been pretty thorough. In any case he is one of the best read and most highly cultivated men in the Dominion, and a good classical scholar. * * * * Go wherever you will, you hear him spoken of as "John A., the Chieftain," or some other appellation, which shows that if he does not always impress the Canadians with a sense of his dignity, he does somehow inspire feelings of a much warmer nature. Even his opponents do not call him anything worse than "Old To-morrow," which is expressive and not impolite. Then, again, he is the most approachable of men; he always has a kind word or a good story ready, especially when the object of his visitor is not expected to be pleasant, and this, on many an instance of the kind, has led a man who has gone in with a grievance to come out, if not exactly with a smile, at any rate in a better frame of mind than that in which he entered.

The confederation of the various Canadian provinces into the Dominion is largely due to the ability and influence of Sir John, and the Canadian Pacific railway I must also be regarded as an imperishable monument to his sagacity and genius. It is perhaps because the Canada of to-day is so largely the work of his own hands that he has been a staunch loyalist and Conservative.

So long ago as 1861, in [illegible] Quebec he made a speech of which the following is a summary: "He hoped that for ages, forever, Canada might remain united with the mother country. But we are fast ceasing to be a dependency and assuming the position of an ally of Great Britain. England would be the centre, surrounded and sustained by an alliance, not only with Canada, but Australia, and all her other possessions, and there would thus be formed an immense confederation of freemen, the greatest confederacy of civilized and intelligent men that ever had an existence on the face of the globe."

His views also upon the subject of the future relations between Canada and the United States were made known in the electoral campaign in the same year. In his election address he said: "The Reformers [illegible] the United States [illegible] the [illegible] of our [illegible] upon which they are [illegible]. [illegible] principle—the [illegible] principle—prevail in the end; but there is no looking to Washington as the [illegible] Ottawa. [illegible] Cry of the [illegible] that was [illegible] 'A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die.'" [illegible]

These utterances made have been made in the course of the recent elections campaign, and, indeed, in his recent manifesto, he attained [illegible] of a similar character. Said he: "For a century and a half this country has grown and flourished under the protecting aegis of the British crown. The gallant race who first bore to our shores the blessings of civilization paved by an easy transition from French to English rule and now form one of the most law abiding portions of the community. These pioneers were speedily recruited by the advent of a loyal band of British subjects who gave up everything that men most prize and were content to begin life anew in the wilderness rather than forego allegiance to their sovereign. To the descendants of these men and of the multitude of Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen who emigrated to Canada that they might build up new homes without ceasing to be British subjects, to you, Canadians, I appeal and I ask you what have you to gain by surrendering that which your fathers held most dear?" Then, after pointing out the advantages which Canada enjoyed under the broad folds of the Union Jack, the freedom to manage its domestic concerns, the privilege of making its own treaties with foreign countries, and in its relations with the outside world, the prestige inspired by a consciousness of the fact that behind Canada towers the majesty of England—he continued the [illegible] that were before the electors to the [illegible] of the people. "With the [illegible] confidence that you will proclaim to the world your resolve to show yourselves not unworthy of the proud distinction you enjoy of being numbered among the most dutiful and loyal subjects of our beloved queen. As for myself, my course is clear; a British subject I was born, a British subject I will die." These [illegible] have been the keynote of the political career of Sir John Macdonald, and there are few men who have done more to promote the strength and the unity of the empire.

RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Notes [illegible] by the Rev. [illegible] H. Gre[illegible].

The Churchman, in a long editorial, represents that Dr. Brooks' election to the bishopric will be opposed, and may be negatived by the body of bishops. Ordinarily a bishop's election is confirmed as a matter of course, but instances have occurred in which such election has not been confirmed and a new one has become necessary. The objections stated to Dr. Brooks' election are twofold. First, that he does not hold to the doctrine of apostolical succession, agreeing with some of the most [illegible] divines and scholars in the Episcopal church in regarding this doctrine as unscripturally, if not historically, untenable. This ground of objection The Churchman thinks can have little, if any, weight. But the second objection seems to The Churchman more weighty. Dr. Brooks, it seems, has acted in accordance with his convictions; and has recognized, practically, ministers of other denominations. The specifications are that he attended the installation of Lyman Abbott in Plymouth church, and that he participated with non-episcopally ordained clergymen, including one Unitarian, in a Good Friday service in Boston this spring. The Churchman intimates that this action may constitute a more serious objection to Dr. Brooks' election to the bishopric, and it proposes as a remedy for such ecclesiastical irregularities in the future an amendment to the Canon law, prohibiting any one not a communicant in the Episcopal church from either speaking or officiating in an Episcopal church building and any presbytery or bishop of the Episcopal church from doing any act which can be construed as recognizing a non episcopally ordained clergyman. It is not for us to enter into the ecclesiastical controversies and party strifes of the different denominations. But, looking at this question wholly from without the Episcopal church, we cannot refrain from saying that, as the election of Dr. Brooks was a triumph for the No-party element, so a refusal to confirm it would be distinctly a partisan triumph. It would be, in our judgment, a serious hindrance, not only to Christian union, but also to the growth of the Episcopal church. There is much in that church which commends it to public esteem. Its rich spiritual liturgy, the antique flavor of which no modern inventor is able to imitate; its appeal to the aesthetic nature, which the too severely simple service of the Puritan churches in the past mistakenly ignored; its history, reaching back into a period which antedates the Reformation; its freedom of thought, due to the fact that its centre is a liturgy, not a creed; its combination of independence and order in an organization which secures to the diocese almost the liberty of independency, with a supervision exercised by bishops, whose office is limited, though the name is disowned, by missionary superintendents and presiding elders in other denominations—all combine to make the Episcopal church attractive to Christians of other denominations; so attractive that, if the broad and catholic spirit pervaded it which is represented by Dr. Brooks, it would not be unreasonable to anticipate that, in time, that church might become in truth, what some of its members now desire to call it, The American church. The greatest enemy to its prosperity and its growth is the spirit of sectarianism, which, with singular inconsistency, assumes the name of Catholicity. It seems hardly necessary to say that the legislation which The Churchman proposes would make the Episcopal denomination the most sectarian of sects, since by such action the Episcopal denomination would cut itself off from the universal church of Christ—like the Greek and Roman on the one side, and the Protestant on the other.

If thou couldst trust, poor soul,
In Him who rules the whole,
Thou wouldst find peace and rest:
Wisdom and sight are well, but trust is best.
—Adelaide A. Proctor.

An exceedingly interesting movement, and apparently of large promise, is the movement to organize in all our larger towns and cities boys' clubs for the benefit of newsboys and others more or less homeless boys who are outcasts upon the street. The movement originated some years ago under the leadership of Rev. John C. Collins who, I believe was himself once a street waif, and it attained there so great success that it is now rapidly spreading over the country. Mr. Ernest Whitney of this city was in New Haven and since his removal to Colorado Springs comes a [illegible] the secretary of the national organization. We take the following extracts from a recent Bnade by Mr. Collins. [illegible] of the work. It is worth noting that a similar work for street boys is [illegible] coming remarkable headway in England. There the boys are organized into military companies. Prof. the Drummond, the well known author of "Natural Law in the Spiritual World" and "The Greatest Thing in the World," is very active in the work movement. This enterprise is also to the Young Men's Christian association, but it goes down to an earlier and so more hopeful stage of moral development and a reaches out for a class of boys who in a rare have much keenness and force and the stuff in them out of which to make valuable men.* says Mr. Collins in the article referred to.

It [illegible] we began in a thoroughly systematic way, and through an organization which it was designed should spread all over the country, to organize the work for boys through boys' clubs.

It is unnecessary to go into details of the organization. To those who may wish to familiarize [illegible] the objects of such [illegible] necessary [illegible] to say that the [illegible] of work for which we are [illegible] organization, was to open a room in the centre of the larger cities, [illegible] the very largest, and to gather into this room during the evenings of the winter months of the year the boys from the streets. Each room would [illegible] in charge of a Christian young man as superintendent and the boys would be brought into touch with Christian ministers and people who would visit the rooms from night to night. The attractions were to be [illegible] a [illegible] lighted room, with a carefully selected library of books for boys and a number of [illegible] games as [illegible] possible, instructive games. They would be simply the attractions which the better class of boys had in their own homes, and thus such boys would not [illegible] be drawn to the [illegible] and the [illegible] would be [illegible] to those most needing it. During the daytime, when the club was not open, the superintendent could visit the homes of the boys and become perfectly familiar with their surroundings, fathers' occupations, and learn about the boy's habits, character, etc., more definitely than could be done in any other way. He was also to visit the police courts and keep close watch for and over the boys, as far as the judges would give them into his care, who were brought into the courts for petty offenses. In this way he would come into touch with every boy who was likely from his surroundings to grow into a criminal, and as most criminals grow and are not made in a day, this police court work could be made a very important and useful feature. In the rooms also the boys were to be taught politeness by saying "Please" when they asked for a book or game, and "Thank you" when they obtained it; also cleanliness and the like. Penny Savings banks could be established. Occasional lectures on interesting subjects, [illegible] in between rounds [illegible] and apples and oranges, the prospect of obtaining which would be no small influence in securing attention and order, could be given. Mottoes containing some great truths could be hung about the walls and make their impress upon the plastic minds of the boys. Manual training classes of ten or fifteen boys, in carpentry; classes in typesetting, wood-carving, clay modeling, could be established in adjoining rooms. Better than all, and first of all, without any established plan, the superintendent, by personal intercourse, should [illegible] agency which the Christian worker can use, could bring the boys into personal relation with the Lord Jesus Christ, their great Friend.

And this we began in 1887 to do. I rejoice to be able to say that, under the blessing of God and with the co-operation of the noble company of Christian men and women who have served on committees and who have contributed of their means, each doing what God has made it possible to do, we have placed our hands for good, for time and eternity, upon thirteen thousand boys, chiefly boys of the streets, in many cities, principally those in New England. We have solved many problems of organization, and, besides those who have been reached directly through the work of which I am general superintendent, very many others have been stirred up to undertake in small ways a work among the boys, and many hundreds and thousands have been reached through these agencies. Out of all the clubs which have been organized only three have disappeared. The others are continuing their work with increasing influence for good from year to year. Nearly two thousand dollars have been placed in the Penny Savings banks in something over a year. About fifteen hundred boys have been members of the classes which have been formed. Hundreds of boys have been placed in the care of the superintendents by the police judges, and have been apparently turned from lives of crime and misery to lives of happiness and usefulness. Many boys without religious training have been brought into connection with the church and Sunday schools, and put permanently into right ways of manly and Christian living.

*In a private letter Mr. Collins says: "If there was not so much vitality and good reason for the existence of the work in the work itself we never would see 13,000 boys reached in a little over three years and a half. A new feature which we are putting into these clubs is a bathroom, which we find works splendidly. The University club [illegible] in New Haven which is carried on by us, assisted by the freshman class in college, which has formed a Boys' Club association, has a splendid little bathroom attachment. During the last eleven nights, of which I have statistics before me, 112 boys have been bathed; and they have been thoroughly bathed, too, for under the arrangements with the college boys there are three members from the class present every evening, and one of them has charge of the bathing. He goes into the bathroom and sees that the boys are washed from head to foot. If this is not practical Christianity, then I don't know what is. Sometimes the young fellow in there will get so thoroughly exhausted and 'sweated out' that he cannot stand it more than half or three-quarters of an hour, when he has to be relieved by some chum, and the bath room is kept in operation from the time the club opens until it closes. These boys have been the very dirtiest and poorest little fellows that we could get. Our bathroom in the whole city, and they take great delight in it. When this feature becomes introduced into the new clubs which will be formed and into the old ones, you see it will be no small thing. Of course this bathing is an addition to the ordinary washing up, which has been a feature of all the clubs from the [illegible] and is done in every club there is an average of 67 [illegible] boys every night, who just wear out bars of soap and [illegible] towels in great quantities in the effort to get the black off hands and faces."

The Effect of Culture.

Boston Girl—Oh, mother! I did something awfully at the party tonight.

Mother—Why, my dear child, what was it?

Boston Girl—That horrid bouquet Mr. Beacon sent me had some cinnamon pinks in it. They made me sneeze, and—but I can't say it.

Mother—Go on!

Boston Girl—My glasses fell off, and Mr. Beacon saw my bare face!—Rochester Talisman.

Struck In the Eye.

Briggs—My wife had a queer accident befall her yesterday. As she was walking along the street a man's hat blew off and struck her in the eye. It cost me twenty-five dollars for doctor's fees.

Briggs—Oh, that's nothing. My wife was walking along the street the other day, and as she passed a milliner's a bonnet in the window struck her eye, and it cost me fifty dollars.—Men's Outfitter.

A Little Embarrassing.

Distinguished Counsel—In extenuation of my client I have, gentlemen, to call attention to the fact that he has always been very hard of hearing, so that he is easily led away.

Client (murderer, bursting into tears) —I thank you, Mr. Lawyer.—Fliegende Blätter.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR BARGAINS?
Read the Following:

At the southwest corner of Huerfano and Nevada Ave. we have a choice business property, 95 feet on Huerfano and 125 feet on Nevada, that can now be bought at a very reasonable figure. As a business property and one that is sure to bring large returns in the near future, there is no better location for the amount invested than to buy this corner at the price asked.

On North Tejon street we have an 8 room house; bath, hot and cold water, hot air furnace, two mantels and grates, electric lights, two hydrants in yard; good barn and well arranged; fine lawn and trees. The price of this valuable property is only $6300.

On Grant avenue, in West Colorado Springs, lot 50x150, new house of 6 rooms, fine lawn, nicely located for a house; easy terms. Call soon, as this place will sell quickly.

Also, at the southeast corner of Moreno and Cascade, lot 75x150 feet, an 8 room brick house, cellar, stable, very fine lawn, shrubbery and fruit trees; a good location for a boarding house or hotel. This is cheap at $[illegible].

Don't forget this lot, 51x240, with stone building 40x100, close to A. T. & S. F. tracks. Somebody will get a bargain, as it will surely be needed for warehouse purposes. The price is $6900, $1000 cash, balance [illegible] payments, 8 per cent interest.

Here is a bargain sure: Lot 90x100 feet, next to corner of Uintah and Weber; worth more money now than we are asking, $2100.

On South Tejon street car line; lot 50x140, with 4 room house; lot worth the money asked $1000, $400 [illegible] cash, balance $25 per month, interest at 8 per cent per annum.

Lots in Ivywild are selling well considering the times. You had better get one before the best are gone. The best of terms to those wishing to build.

OLD SOLDIERS' DAY.

List of the G. A. R. Members Buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

Decoration day, the one day of the year given up to memories of the great rebellion, will be celebrated to-day. The day has been a notable one in Colorado Springs for years, and the celebration today will be equally eventful. The programme as outlined in the general ... yesterday morning will be carried out. At Evergreen cemetery the graves of the old soldiers who lie buried there will be decorated and appropriate exercises will follow. We print below a list of the members of G. A. R. Post 22 of Colorado Springs who are buried in Evergreen cemetery. The list does not include the names of ... soldiers who are buried there as for some strange reason a list of them has never been kept properly. During ... year even old soldiers have died and been buried there ... graves will not be decorated to-day. Not one single grave should be forgotten, not at least while the present generation of people lasts. Some steps should be taken at once to see that a proper list of dead soldiers buried in Evergreen cemetery is started. It should contain the name of the soldier, his company and regiment and the lot and block where buried. Herman M. The City Jail.

He collected some documents ..., that will be of use at the hearing, such as the city magistrate's annual ..., the city marshal's report, etc., in ... to the "black hole of Colorado ..." Upon investigation Mr. Hill ... that there is an error regarding the ... of the grand jury, as that body ... failed even to mention the city jail ... reports. That makes but little ... however, as the people in the ... and about the building, whose ... jeopardized by the escaping ... gas, as Dr. Kimball declares, are ... to enter court and testify.

... Mangold, the city sewer inspector, ...igated the jail yesterday and finds ... the grade for the sewerage pipe is ...ficient to carry off the sewerage, ...ted in the GAZETTE yesterday, and ... not believe it ever can be made ... As soon as this report is filed ... proper form and the city physician ... a report, Mr. Hill will be ready to ... a move in the matter of an in...tion.

... the writer's knowledge Marshal ... has had the prisoners clean up the ... pound two or three times in the ... ten days, and yesterday the city ... found time to haul the filth away. ... the sun came out yesterday it partly dried up the place, and the reeking, ... mass that greeted people the day previous partly disappeared. Nevertheless the pound is a disgraceful place to be maintained in the very heart of the city, and all the care and watchfulness on the part of the marshal will never make it anything else. No dairy or other private enterprise would ever be tolerated to maintain such a place for a single day and why should the city do it?

The article in the GAZETTE and the action of the Humane society as given yesterday morning were generally commented upon yesterday and approved.

District Court.

The case of Williams vs. the Rapid Transit company, which has occupied the attention of the district court for two days, was submitted to the jury at 5:15 last evening. After being out a short time they returned a verdict for plaintiff for $125.

There will be no further business before the court until June 5, at which time Judge Downer, of the Eighth judicial district, will preside. Petit jurors were excused until June 6th, and the grand jury will re-convene on the 11th. It is probable that the term will ... about the middle of June.

College Commencement.

The programme for Colorado college commencement is as follows:

1. Sunday evening, June 14, at the Congregational church, Baccalaureate sermon by President Slocum.
2. Monday afternoon, June 15, annual meeting of the board of trustees. Monday evening at the Methodist church, annual college oratorical contest.
3. Tuesday afternoon, 3 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church, Cutler academy graduation address by Rev. Richard Montague, D.D. Tuesday evening, reception to the senior college class by President and Mrs. Slocum.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

Some of the young people of Manitou will hold an informal dance at the Cliff house this evening.

Mr. Z. G. Simmons, the president of the Pike's Peak cog road arrived in Manitou yesterday morning.

Mayor Leddy and son, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nichols will leave next Monday for any extensive eastern trip.

The work on the Congregational church building is now finished and the usual church services will be held there one week from to-morrow.

Mr. G. Herbert Brown, formerly connected with the Manitou Journal arrived in Manitou yesterday as the representative of several eastern papers.

The show window of the De La Vergne Furniture company is well worth seeing. Mr. Smith, the secretary of the company, is quite a genius in the art of concocting novel windows and this is one of his greatest successes. It is a window to celebrate Decoration day, and represents a scene in a Union camp in war times. A Union soldier is sitting on guard in front of a small tent, and wrapped in a weather-beaten uniform coat with his gun by his side. He is looking dreamily at the fire. Behind the earthworks a Confederate spy has hidden himself and is taking aim at the soldier on guard, whose companion is sleeping within the tent. A slice of pork is frying over the fire, while an iron kettle hangs suspended above it and a dead hen lies near by with its blood spattered over the ground. Young willows and cottonwood trees have been placed in the window, and with the lighted gas springing up over the clay logs the scene has a very life-like, natural effect.

The Pike's Peak Chautauquan of this city spent yesterday evening in the holding of an entertainment in the pavilion at the mouth of Cheyenne canon. The programme rendered was quite an interesting one. Mr. M. B. Irvine read a humorous paper on the president's visit to this city and Alderman Davis favored the club with what he called "machine made poetry" on the fall of The Antlers porch on the night of the reception. The club presented Professor Dickey of the Garfield school with a handsome book of etchings, J. R. Robinson making the presentation speech. Professor Dickey replied to Mr. Robinson with a few appropriate words, and the gathering departed for the city, where they arrived about 9:30 o'clock and gave notice of their coming by the singing of hymns and songs.

Yesterday afternoon the college cadets voted to abandon the idea of taking part in the parade to-day. The vote has been reconsidered, and the cadets are expected to meet at the college this morning at 8 o'clock sharp in uniform and to take part in the parade. An order has been issued by the officers for the company's appearance.

Henry Drew, the second party that took part in the theft of the horse and buggy in Colorado City last Sunday, and who was captured last Thursday, was given his preliminary hearing yesterday morning in Justice Farrar's court charged with malicious mischief. He plead guilty and was bound over in the sum of $300 bond to appear at the next meeting of the district court.

President Davis, of the West Virginia railroad, in a conference with Mayor Davidson, of Baltimore, gave assurances that in the event of his road securing the Western Maryland not only would that road not be operated detrimentally to the business interests of Baltimore, but it would be made more of a factor in that direction than at present.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

Many of Emma Abbott's costumes have been sold, Corinne being a large purchaser. At the time of her death it was said that her written wish was that they should be burned.

The author of that remarkable novel, "As In a Looking Glass," Mr. T. C. Phillips, has written a comedy called "Husband and Wife," which will soon be brought out in London.

A new theater—the Powell street—was recently opened in San Francisco. It is handsomely fitted up, and has particularly good accommodations behind the scenes. This makes eight good theaters in San Francisco.

A landscape painted by Joseph Jefferson was exhibited recently in a Chicago art gallery. It is well studied and vigorously painted. Mr. Jefferson is an honorary member of the art society which gave the exhibition.

Americans will have an opportunity next winter to judge if the recent reports of Marie Van Zandt's indiscretions on the stages of European theaters are true, for she will then be one of the principal singers at the Metropolitan Opera house in New York.

Historic old Niblo's Garden in New York seems likely to fade away before long. There have been four or five big failures there during the season, and no successes of any magnitude. The excuse given is that it has been left behind in the up town theatrical march.

There is talk of establishing in Boston a "free stage" after the fashion of the Theater Libre, of Paris. Such enterprises have already achieved success in Berlin and London as well as Paris. A like proposal was made some time ago in New York, but there seems little prospect of a realization of the scheme.

Sara Bernhardt went through the Chinese quarter in San Francisco the other day. She visited the Chinese theater and gave a mock performance on the stage, playing to total receipts of sixty-five cents. Afterward she investigated the opium dens, rushing undismayed into dives in which even the guides hardly dared to venture.

WHISPERS ABOUT WOMEN.

Mrs. Jennie M. Lozier, the president of the Sorosis, is a physician herself, the wife of a physician and the daughter-in-law of a physician.

Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon, the wife of the popular London preacher, carries on very extensive philanthropic work. She is among the industrious invalids.

Miss Stella M. Callon has been appointed master in chancery of Vermillion county, Ills. She is the first woman to occupy that position in the state.

Mrs. Mary E. Craigie, the well known author of juvenile literature, is passionately fond of outdoor life, and spends most of her time at her country seat, Milburn Hall, on the ocean side of Long Island.

The retirement of General John Gibbon, of the Federal army, on account of age recalls the fact that his wife often accompanied him during his campaigning in the late war, and came to be dearly loved by all the soldiers.

Mrs. May French Sheldon, the authoress, is fine of physique, lithe and supple, with piercing eyes, very handsome, of exceptional conversational powers, and one who appears to be regardless of fear. She is a granddaughter of Sir Isaac Newton and is of American birth.

London now has a number of women of aristocratic lineage who are in trade as milliners or dressmakers. The pioneer of them all is Lady Granville Gordon, who six years ago opened a little shop in Park street. Her capital at the start was only £150, but she has been remarkably successful.

The fair given at Miss Dorsey's yesterday afternoon for the benefit of Bellevue sanitarium, and under the auspices of Miss Flossie Dickerman and the Misses Nina and Regina Lunt proved a great success. The attendance of the friends of the young people was quite large and all had a delightful time. The sanitarium will receive about $150 as the result of the fair.

Church of Christ (Scientist) holds services at K. of P. hall, Sundays at 11 a. m. Bible class at 10 a. m. Inquiry meeting at 8 p. m. Thursdays. All are invited.

Mr. J. G. Shields has been elected a trustee of the Y. M. C. A. At the meeting of the directors Thursday twenty four active and seventeen associate members were elected.

There will be a Union Bible class for the study of the Sunday school lessons, conducted by Rev. Ira G. Sprague, held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. every Saturday at 4 p. m.

Beginning this morning Wooley & Van Vechten will run a line of hacks from the corner of Tejon and Pike's Peak avenue to Prospect lake every thirty minutes. Fare 10 cents each way

Colonel Orton, who is to deliver the oration at the cemetery to-day, did not arrive in the city until very late last night, as his train was delayed. He telegraphed from Laramie, Wyo., last evening

Mr. E. S. Joslyn, who has been making the [illegible] out of the city for the portion north of Pike's Peak avenue, expects to complete the work by this afternoon. He has been greatly hindered by the recent heavy rains

The decoration committee of the W. R. C., which has charge of the decorations, had a larger supply of flowers yesterday than they ever had to select from. The school children brought wild flowers in the greatest profusion.

Services to-morrow at the Second Congregational church, South Tejon, below Costilla. Preaching at 11 a. m. by the pastor, Rev. M. D. Omes. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Young peoples' meeting at 7 o'clock. There will be no evening service

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday, was delivered by the Rev. Richard Montague of Colorado Springs and is generally spoken of by all who heard it as the ablest sermon ever delivered on like occasion. The Rev." will be "D. D." to-day.—[Boulder Camera.

Rev. Jas. B. Gregg, pastor of the Congregational church, left Thursday evening for the east to be absent for some time. Mr. Gregg will not allow his vacation to interfere with the Religious World column which he prepares each week for The Gazette.

Professor Durgin gave a "pink dance" in The Antlers pavilion last night, which continued until a late hour in the night. Fifty couples participated, and the pink dresses of the ladies and the pink neck ties and adornments of the gentlemen made a very attractive scene

The suit of Sheriff Jackson against the county commissioners to settle his claim for the care of prisoners has been withdrawn in the district court. The commissioners decided to arbitrate and Messrs. John Himebaugh and David McShane will act in that capacity

Mrs. A. H. Green wife of the head fireman at the power house is engaged in soliciting $275 to pay the mortgage on the home of Mrs. Henry Broadston in this city. Mrs. Broadston is an old lady and the widow of an old soldier. She receives a small pension and will be able to live comfortably if this debt is raised

The Athletic contest of the Amateur Athletic club occurs at the Athletic park on North Weber street this afternoon. The gates will be open at 2 o'clock and the exercises will begin at 2:30. An admission fee to the grounds of 25 cents will be charged. There will be a large crowd and those who can should go early

Services at the First Baptist church, corner Weber and Kiowa streets, to-morrow, Rev. Richard Montague, D. D. pastor. Worship and sermon at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. The evening sermon will be a memorial discourse before the G. A. R. Seats free and all are welcome. Sabbath school at 3 p. m., Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 p. m.

Mr. J. B. Mott of New York secretary of the international committee for Y. M. C. A. work in our colleges, will speak in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, at the rooms of the association at 4:15 p. m. and in the First Congregational church Sunday evening. Different topics relating to the work of the association will be the subject of these services. Mr. Mott is an able speaker and his broad experience will enable to make his addresses very interesting and practicable.

"The County Fair" will be the attraction at the opera house next Wednesday evening. The play, as the majority of theatre goers are aware, has been the perennial attraction at the Union Square theatre, New York for three years. Charles Barnard, who wrote the comedy, struck a soft, responsive chord in the public's bosom when he played upon their equine affections, and as a result the horse entered in this play has aroused general interest. "To take in the race" at this play has long been a fad in New York and there is every reason to believe that this production will attract in Colorado Springs next week that element whose approval and appearance stamps an attraction as "just the thing."

Aleck Morrison the man who was arrested on last Thursday for stealing brass has made his escape. While Officer Shelby was taking the chain gang from the city jail yesterday morning Morrison succeeded in numbering himself with them at the top of the stairs leading up from the jail. He started on a run along the alley towards Nevada avenue, where he turned south. Nothing has as yet been heard in regard to his whereabouts.

Sure to Catch Them.

Before the traveling man has left his hotel the newspaper advertisement has had an interview with the purchaser. The buyer may have been out of town that day but somebody's newspaper advertisement was in his pocket. The country dealer may be located much out of the way" but the newspaper gets there and gets attention. The canvasser may ring in vain, but the housekeeper is always "at home" to her favorite newspaper.—Ayer

Boise City, Idaho, May 29
The fruit crop of Payette valley will be the largest this year ever known. The codlin moth has troubled the apple trees for five years but there is good reason to believe that its ravages will not be so great this year. The plum and prune have always been perfect, and the cherry without blemish. The fruits will yield profusely this year. The pears of Boise both in quality and quantity, excel those of California. The acreage of strawberries is three times as great as last year. The demand for Boise fruits is practically unlimited but there is some doubt of the ability of the Union Pacific to transport the fruit crop with sufficient promptness to insure their delivery in good condition. If transportation cannot be secured, the people will resort to evaporation and canning. Persons having the necessary experience and capital should examine Boise City as a field for fruit raising and distribution.
